25 COUNTIES PLAN BOND VOTE TUESDAY

Becker of Tax Commission Says Passage Would Delay Pulling Out of Debt

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Nov 1—[illegible] counties will vote next Tuesday on bond issues totaling [illegible] to meet the needs of indigents

Four large counties already have passed bond issues for $1 456 000 to finance relief and five others will issue bonds totalling $231 000

Ford Becker chief of the county aid division of the state tax commission expressed belief that issuance of bonds by counties would only delay pulling out of a financial mire

If the counties and subdivisions instead of paying off their present debts issue additional bonds Becker added it's bound to increase the debt structure over the state

These counties should use discretion in increasing their indebtedness I don't know when we're going to see the back of our necks

Counties must find ways of raising relief funds preparatory to taking over the direct relief burden Nov 15 or possibly Dec 1

Relief financing bonds will be issued under the Carey act passed at the regular session of the legislature last spring The total statewide issue must not exceed 15 000 000

One per cent of the utility excise tax has been earmarked to pay off the bonds within the next five years

BLACK ACTS TO BAR ACCIDENTS SATURDAY

45 Motorcycle Men and 10 Patrol Cars To Guide Grid Fans into Columbus

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Nov 1—Authorities completed cooperation plans today to keep one score low Saturday the day of the Ohio State-Notre Dame game the traffic toll

Col Lynn Black superintendent of the state highway patrol said 45 motorcycle officers and 10 patrol cars would be concentrated within a 25-mile radius of Columbus

Black said the patrol would endeavor to keep traffic at a lively but safe and sane pace

Our policy always has been to cooperate with rather than hinder the motorist in reaching his destination and that policy will continue Black added

Police agencies estimated that 30 000 visiting autoists would crowd Columbus for the week end game the outstanding gridiron attraction in the country this week

Opha Moore secretary of the Buckeye Sheriffs association urged sheriffs of 10 surrounding counties to aid in the traffic control problem

Coach Francis Schmidt of Ohio State had this to say

There will be plenty of action and fight on that field We've got blood in our eye and I am sure Notre Dame has too but we don't want any other kind of blood around

I would suggest that people leave the day for the game alone They can visit and engage in other activities before and after Saturday If they will leave the day free of everything else except that football game they will enjoy it more and will doubtless cut down the chance of accidents

PRICE LEVEL RAISING DRIVE SHORT OF AIM

Commodity Index Climbs Only 10 Points Despite Depreciation Campaign.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Nov 1—The administration's two-year-old drive to raise the price level was still far short today of the original goal—the 1926 level

Two years ago President Roosevelt inaugurated his move to depreciate the dollar by purchasing gold through the Reconstruction Finance Corp The labor department's wholesale commodity index was then 70 8 per cent of the 1926 level It is now 80 3

In August 1933 before the President announced his monetary plans the 1926 dollar would buy $1 44 worth of wholesale commodities Today despite the depreciation moves and talk of inflation it will still buy $1 21 worth of goods

For the man on the street that means that he can today get 24 per cent more goods at wholesale for his money than he could in 1926 The same is substantially true of the retail purchasing power of the dollar though not exactly

Before the President started out on the monetary program however the 1926 dollar would buy almost a dollar and a half's worth of wholesale commodities

There have been no recent administration statements to indicate whether the campaign to raise the price level will continue

Harding Honor Pupils Listed by New Method

The first Harding High school honor roll for the present school year released today is in accordance with a new policy of listing honor pupils by subjects.

This method school officials believe is more fair to those pupils who do work of honor roll quality in some subjects but may be weak in others. The system will list all subjects taught and the students who make an A average in each subject.

Following is the roll for the first six weeks:

American History—Mary Kathryn Albeit, Valjean Brady, Betty Clagett, Eleanor Epley, Betty Lou [illegible] Louise Creasy, Annetta Hall, Mary Alice Hall, Anne Hastings, Robert Highley, Dorothy King, Wilda Layman, Betty Jane Leeb, Jack Markwith, John Neidhart, Geneva Peak, Harry Pfeifer, Jean Quick, Wilfred Staker, Ellsworth Stinehelfer, Robert Stout, Elaine Stewart, Mary Lou Ulsh, Nancy Usner, Marie Weston, Della Wood, Allan Wylie.

ELKS AT BUCYRUS TO STAGE MINSTREL

BUCYRUS, Nov 1—On Nov [illegible] and 8 the opera house here will again resound to the strains of minstrelsy when the Bucyrus lodge of Elks No 156 stages its annual minstrel show. This minstrel show has been an annual event of the Bucyrus [illegible] for many years and while the minstrel show of today differs greatly from the shows of former years it still continues to be one of the high points of entertainment.

This year's offering consists of a combination of old time minstrels with the familiar end men, [illegible] and the more [illegible] dignified interlocutor and the modern musical revue without dancing and singing choruses and com[illegible]

The interlocutor is played by J [illegible], better known as Big Jim [illegible] Adam Bore[illegible] Har[illegible] R L Hinamon, Larry Selw[illegible] and Lawrence Foulke as the end men.

OHIO POLITICS LINKED TO U. S.

Democrats Confident They Will Get Aid From Washington Next Year

BY EDWARD F. STEVENS
International News Staff Writer

COLUMBUS O Nov 1—Ohio Democratic leaders are feeling a pull between the state capitol and Washington as the time for opening the 1936 campaign draws dangerously near

They are confident that national administration strategists are going to enter the state next year in some way to make their influence felt in the campaign

How this interest in the Buckeye state's elections will be manifest is the source of considerable preelection speculation

Veteran observers recalled the move would be nothing new for the Roosevelt administration

They pointed to the effort of national Democratic leaders to hand pick a junior Ohio senator last year Charles West Granville former congressman from the 1 th Ohio district was the choice

He entered the race at the last minute against Gov George White and former governor Vic Donahey and lost West has a warm place today however as the $10000 a year undersecretary of the interior at Washington

His victorious opponent last year Donahey is now being groomed to succeed John Nance Garner as running mate to Franklin D Roosevelt in 1936 rumors emanating from the nation's capitol insist

Donahey some Democratic leaders contend would assure success for the national ticket in Ohio next year As the Democratic candidate for vice president they believe he would overcome much of the difficulty the administration may meet in the Ohio election

No open move has been made from Washington to discourage the campaign for reelection of Gov Martin L Davey but anti Davey Democrats in Ohio of whom apparently there are many insist that the national leaders in the party are anxious that he be unseated

Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati former lieutenant governor has visited the nation's capital recently and observers believe his trip may have some bearing on the 1936 campaign in this state inasmuch as Sawyer has been mentioned persistently as a Democratic candidate for governor next year

CIVIL WAR VETERAN PROUD FATHER AT 94

American Medical Association Journal Authenticates Carolina Case

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Nov 1—A medically authenticated case of paternity at the age of 94 years was reported today by the Journal of the American Medical association but another authority stated it was far from setting a record

The Journal said New York physicians had duly verified the fatherhood of a Confederate war veteran born in North Carolina in 1840 whose [illegible]7 year old second wife became a mother some months ago The name of the veteran father of 16 children by his first wife was not revealed

In New York Dr Ingo Gladston of the New York Academy of Medicine said however John Cilley a native of Ireland who died in Augusta Me in 1813 was virile until his 120th year Two cases of paternity at 104 years were known to medical annals Dr Gladston added

The New York physicians in the Journal's account described the 94 year old father as having always been a man of outdoor habits He chewed tobacco but did not smoke and had tapered off his customary consumption of alcohol several years ago

TELL-A-PHOBIA

There is no doubt that the telephone has been a first aid to romance but that was before women became afflicted with telephonitis Or tell-a-phobia.

Woman has been cutting her own throat with her tongue for many hundreds of years that it didn't really seem necessary for anybody to invent an instrument to make it easier for her to talk

True before the invention of the telephone lots of lovers quarrels became permanent breaches because the man couldn't get the girl's ear at the psychological moment Or because the girl couldn't get the man's ear before some other w… it Many a heart broken couple spent 40 years trying to forget each other simply because they had been unable to pack up a telephone receiver and explain it all in 10 minutes.

But a telephone is like a gun When you need it you need it badly but you don't need it often Not if you're a woman It is positively dangerous for a girl in love to live within reach of a telephone And a long distance call on the morning after a spat has wrecked many a bright romance and eroded the s…o of many a lover who was on the verge of rushing back and asking …

Telephonitis or tele… as every woman knows is an irresistible reasonless itching to snatch up a telephone receiver every time you think of a man and invent some excuse for calling him up or calling him down usually an excuse that is as thin as cellophane and as easy to see through

It is a burning mania to hang on a transmitter and spill the beans by bawling a man out or apologizing to him or telling him off and deluging him with your emotions

It is a dementia or a psychosis which is rampant in some women and which seizes even the wisest and most discreet woman in moments of anger love jealousy or remorse

It is distinctly a feminine phobia A man almost never is afflicted with telephonitis except when he's in his cups and then nobody knows what he's saying anyhow

If a girl could only know how men feel about the woman who suffers from a telephone-complex she would never pick up a receiver to call a man except when the house is on fire and she wants the fire department

No matter how beautiful and dulcet a woman's telephone voice it always grates on a man's ears when he isn't expecting or desiring to hear it No man wants a woman to live him or to telephone him until he has asked her to.

If it were not for the temptation of the telephone a woman would wait for her … or she would wait until he wanted to hear from her before breaking in upon his eardrum and his consciousness.

And she would wait until … before flattering him by bawling him out

The telephone like life is just what you make of it a blessing or an affliction

The Purpose of Liquor Control.

It should not surprise anyone that the state liquor department is under fire. It should not surprise anyone even that Gov. Davey is defending, as a political leader, what is supposed to be a non-partisan department. Trouble does not mean the plan Ohio adopted to deal with the liquor problem has failed. It is meeting the same tests which any plan would have had to face.

It might be helpful for the public to recall the purposes of a state liquor monopoly, as they were stated when Ohio chose to conduct its nationally important experiment in public control. Chief among the purposes were suppression of the profit motive, encouragement of temperance, discouragement to political meddlers and protection of the public against the age old abuses of the license system.

The basic purpose was to make the control of alcohol a governmental function. Wine and beer were to be made easily available at reasonable prices. Whisky and other beverages of high alcoholic content were to be made relatively expensive, to discourage their consumption, but not sufficiently expensive to act as a subsidy for bootlegging. The state's purpose, in brief, was to control liquor, not to capitalize on it for either political or commercial advantage.

All parties interested in affairs of the state liquor department should review the idea behind the system before jumping to any hasty conclusions. There are signs some things are not as they should be. The politicians and the profiteers have been up to their usual tricks. Government has shown its customary ineptitude for everything which entails honesty and intelligence. Yet, these are the hazards which were anticipated.

In the near future Ohio will demonstrate by its own decisions whether or not the idealism behind state liquor control is too high to be brought down to earth and put into effect. No one yet has found a perfect solution for the liquor problem, but some solutions, chiefly because they aim to do the right things, are better than others. State control aims, at least, to do the right things, if politicians and profiteers are willing to give it a chance.

Uneven Contests.

Football, roughest of games, is constantly forced to be on the defensive against the charge it is unreasonably dangerous. For years, rules of the game have been changed to increase its safety, but annually there is at least one period of trial, during which there is fervent discussion of the need for further improvement.

One of those periods of trial is in progress. Two Ohio players have been killed within a week. Eighteen deaths have been caused by football accidents since the beginning of the season. Again, the game is being forced into a defensive position by criticism. Is football unreasonably dangerous, or isn't it?

Potentially, it is a dangerous sport. Actually, it is as dangerous as it is played. Everything possible has been done by means of rules to keep football safe. Obviously, however, the safety of football cannot be determined by rules. There must be good judgment to accompany the rules.

For instance, there is no rule which says two football teams of unequal ability should not play against each other. There is no rule which says a boy should not be asked to play against an opponent much heavier, stronger and more skillful than he is. There is no rule which says a player should not take advantage of his own superiority over an opponent to handle him more roughly than necessary.

There is one type of accident in football which is avoidable, therefore. No player should be injured merely because circumstances require him to be the victim of an uneven contest. Moreover, no player physically unfit to endure the rigors of competitive football ever should be injured; he shouldn't be permitted to play in the first place. When coaches, officials and all others responsible for the conduct of football games become willing to refuse to tolerate contests in which one team has insurmountable advantages, there will be fewer injuries and fewer deaths in football. Perhaps the possibilities of rules have been exhausted. But good judgment scarcely has been drawn upon yet in the campaign to make football a safer game.

Police Service At Its Best.

Law enforcement officials have a double duty to perform in their warfare against crime and criminals. They are expected to capture and punish the guilty and to make certain that no such fate befalls the innocent.

In fulfilling this mission, Marion police and their associates in the county and municipal law departments have done an outstanding piece of work in the Bennett murder case, according to all evidence on record at this time.

Nearly four years ago Cyre Bennett, a 75 year old man, was arrested and charged with having slain his brother. Evidence pointed convincingly to his apparent guilt and the aged prisoner even went so far as to confess. He was pronounced mentally deficient and since that time has been in the state hospital for the criminally insane, with the charge of murder always hanging over him.

Now his innocence apparently has been completely established as the result of two other men having confessed to the crime.

Although there must be trials before the innocence or guilt of these men can be determined, the record as it now stands is such that there is reason to commend Marion authorities who were instrumental in clearing up this latest, and apparently conclusive development in the case, which stands as one of the most unusual and intricate in Marion's crime annals.

Especial praise is due Police Captain Ora DeWees, who is credited with being the major performer in this fine demonstration of crime solution.

Every police officer should be constantly on the alert, with eyes, ears and mental faculties always applied to the job of seeing, hearing and appraising everything that comes in his line of duty. Obviously this is what Captain DeWees does. He lost no time in getting into action when he received information which seemed to provide a new clue in the Bennett murder case. It would have been an easy matter to pass this by as inconsequential gossip, and probably with some justification, for the Bennett case was to all appearances closed and the guilty man captured.

But DeWees, evidently the sort of police officer who believes no tip should be overlooked, immediately set to work on this one. He followed up with careful and skillful investigation which resulted soon in arrest of the two men now facing trial and in bringing justice to a man who according to all indications is absolutely innocent.

Relief, a Permanent Problem.

Relief of the poor always has been a problem, but attempts to solve it are recent. For centuries, begging seemed satisfactory enough for the most desperate, with personal charity providing for all others.

It is not, therefore, the problem of relief which is new, but only the attempt to meet the problem with some kind of a solution more complete than begging and unorganized charity. This is an age in which social service is seeking admittance as a science. It is an age in which the ranks of the poor have been swelled by enormous numbers of men and women who want work, but can find nothing to do. The unemployed have become so numerous they are now a powerful political minority in every industrial nation. They must be recognized.

The United States is seeking a solution for the problem. If sometimes it seems to be wandering blindly in the dark, that should indicate the huge proportions of the task it has undertaken. Nowhere on earth has a satisfactory solution been found. England experiments with the dole; Italy puts its unemployed men into uniforms and keeps them marching; Russia regiments them under an experimental political philosophy; France struggles under the burden of pensions and bureaucracy. Each nation has its own theory, usually based on considerations of expediency. No nation has the answer.

The United States tried organized charity and local government responsibility until the financial burden became so heavy the federal government was forced to come to the rescue with its taxing and bond issuing power. At present, as President Roosevelt pointed out Thursday night in a speech opening the 1935 Mobilization for Human Needs, it is trying to restore organized charity and local responsibility, to permit the federal government to withdraw from its too heavy obligations. At the same time, the government is hoping industry will absorb a substantial number of unemployed persons.

Obviously, the United States does not have a solution. Like all other nations, it is attempting to reach a solution. Like the others, furthermore, it is hoping that if it can finance itself long enough the problem will solve itself. In the meantime, it must do what it can to protect its financial soundness. In 1935, it seems desirable to restore as much of the cost of relief as possible to local communities and to local government. The Mobilization for Human Needs is based on that theory.

Neighborhood History

FIRST FIRE PROTECTION

Upper Sandusky was without any fire protection other than the wells and buckets owned by individuals until April, 1858, when hooks and ladders were purchased at a cost of $75. A wagon for transporting the equipment was purchased in May of that year and at the same time a shed was erected to house the fire apparatus. The wagon cost $55 and the building $75.

In May, 1867, the "Wyandot Chief," a steam fire engine together with hose and a hose cart was purchased for $5,500 and in 1873 a building to store the fire apparatus and a 'calaboose' was erected at a cost of $1,445. Later a fire alarm bell was added to the equipment and in time a fire engine company was organized.

Park avenue sartorials: Theodor and his morning coat, lapel posey and ledger ruled trousers. The drug store where the clerks change to tuxedoes at sundown. The apartment house where elevator operators wear buckled knee breeches and the starter a drum major's high fur hat.

On an outskirt the other evening a mud-splattered gypsy van was pulling into a filling station. Lettered in white on the side was "Zogo, the Clown." In the driver's seat a drooping fellow, a forlorn Pagliacci. At a window the curtains parted and there appeared the face of a frowzy frump, red-eyed, with a cigaret hanging from her lower lip. She peered sleepily out, blinked, yawned and was gone. The very tag end of the old wagon shows, and one could not resist the obvious murmur. "What a life!"

I came from the Winter Garden a recent night in the depths of a dolor. A favorite rowdy comedian was on the bill but they hadn't done right by him. I refer to Herb Williams. He was shorn of his piano act, the one where he throws out anchors, draws glasses of beer from underneath, looks into the distance with hand-shadowed eyes and utters those curdling cries. And that climax when he whangs the key board with an axe and the cat hops out and ambles across the stage. That act should never die.

An authoritative story of Fritzi Scheff and her most popular song, "Kiss Me Again." As all know, the song was written by Victor Herbert especially for her. Several days before the premiere he played it over and she did not care for it. A temperamental cyclone resulted. She thought the range too great. He was adamant. Oscar Hammerstein, seeing a postponed opening, suggested compromise. She would sing it the first night and if it did not click it would be tossed out. She sang the song and stopped the show for 13 minutes. After many encores the audience yelled for Herbert and, taking Fritzi's hand, he advanced to the footlights. When quiet came, the actress looked up coyly at her composer and cooed "Kiss me again!" He did, and they were fast friends until his passing.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Nov. 1, 1925.

L. M. Shadaker, 56, of Cherry street, route agent for the American Express Co., died in a hospital at Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reese, 61, was in critical condition as the result of burns suffered Saturday when polish she was using to blacken a stove exploded.

Crystal Lake park closed the season with a dance attended by more than 400 couples. Park Manager Fred B. Scherff said the season had been very successful.

A family dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Denzer on South Prospect street in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Denzer.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Nov. 1, 1915.

Washington officials announced a vigorous protest would be made to Great Britain as a result of a seizure of the American steamer, Hocking, by the crew of a British warship.

It was formally announced at the White House that President Wilson and Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt would be married "near the close of December."

Mrs. Elizabeth Blaney, 75, died at the home of her son, Chalmers Blaney, near Iberia.

The Braves were leading the Y. M. C. A. bowling league with nine games won and three lost. McRill of the Indians was top scorer with an average of 186 in 12 games.

It was announced that a movement had been started here to organize a Young Women's Christian association.

Grant E. Mouser and George D. Copeland were speakers at a ward Republican meeting at Center and Jefferson streets. Both speakers lauded the administration of Mayor Don E. J. Brockett, who was to be up for reelection in Tuesday's balloting.

The board of education voted an appropriation of $100 for playground equipment.

Behind The News In

Washington and Wall Street

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — The Italian press has now hailed Secretary Hull's last note as a rebuff to the League of Nations. The league has hailed it as an encouragement to proceed with sanctions against the Italians.

In the midst of this confusing hailing, the duty has devolved upon a diplomat within the state department to interpret the note. It is his job to condense all the acts of the secretary of state into confidential memo form for our foreign envoys strewn around the world. He struggled with the Hull document half an hour, and then hailed it to his secretary as follows:

"Send them the whole note. I cannot interpret what the heck it means."

You may accept this as the official interpretation. Mr. Hull did not approve league sanctions; he did not disapprove. He is perched adroitly on one hand and the other.

Postscript

What the Italians do not know is that Mr. Hull or someone close to him has slipped a few choice additional words to Geneva unofficially through our diplomats there. This is to the effect that the league should not worry about the note, that the United States cannot take action on league sanctions against Italy as long as they are merely proposals, but that we will give them serious (if not sympathetic) attention when they are put into effect.

In other words, the Geneva hail seems to be nearer right than the Italian.

Reasons

The note will undoubtedly win for Mr. Hull this year the Nobel prize for ambiguity.

The fundamental explanation for such evasiveness is supposed to be that a man higher up than Mr. Hull did not want any commitments or advance promises made to the league. For several obvious reasons, also, this government did not want to assume the responsibility for failing to cooperate with the league on a peace endeavor, although involvement in it could conceivably lead to war.

The tortures of authorship are supposed to have beset Mr. Hull for three entire days. He spent that much time composing and recomposing, but was satisfied with the final draft.

Soft Soap

A short time before Mr. Hull dispatched the note, he summoned, of all people in the world, his predecessor, Henry Stimson. This was the first time any figure of the previous administration has been called into counsel here since President Roosevelt was inaugurated.

The purpose was not social. It seems that Mr. Stimson had radioed nationally a criticism of the administration for not cooperating more closely with the league. It is understood on the inside that Mr. Hull asked him, in effect: "Just what would you do under the circumstances?" Mr. Stimson gave the answer and emerged all smiles.

The inside reason behind thus honoring Mr. Stimson is supposed to be that Mr. Hull desires to promote non-partisanship on the peace policy—and, specifically, to prevent any more Stimson radio talks.

Disarmament

The very day on which the forthcoming London naval disarmament conference will convene, the King of England will open a new parliament, elected on a promise to appropriate a billion dollars for British rearmament.

For that reason and others there is a disposition in the highest quarters here to look upon the meeting with disfavor.

In fact it is said that even the eternal disarmament envoy, Norman Davis, does not want to attend that meeting. He is supposed to believe that it should be called a rearmament rather than a disarmament conference. What is feared is that Britain will open the conference by telling it [illegible] directly that it wants [illegible] more cruisers added to the [illegible] it already has. France is supposed to say it can not continue within treaty limits. Japan will present a demand for parity with Britain and the United States.

It is a reasonable probability that the United States delegation will try to postpone the meeting.

Variation

There are indications that the new deal publicity department has adopted the Notre Dame shift.

Regularly, every few months, the state department has been handing out a report from our Havana envoy, Jeff Caffery, showing how well the Cuban trade treaty is working. As this is the only trade treaty which has yet shown any substantial results, continuous stress was considered advisable. But the stress was so continuous that newsmen around the state department passed the last few Caffery announcements into receptacles which the government provides for its most inconsequential material.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 — Major George Berry urges business men to confer on a substitute for NRA on the premise that organized labor is going to demand some such legislation from congress and will probably get it. Therefore he contends it is to industry's interest to help work out a program rather than allow some measure framed purely from the labor viewpoint to preempt the stage.

Shrewd New York observers are not convinced the premise is sound. They admit that the AFL (and Major Berry) are keen for legislative action along NRA lines. They figure that labor leaders—while putting up a valiant front on behalf of the Black-Connery 30-hour bill—have no idea it is going to pass and in fact privately prefer that it shouldn't as yet. But they do need legislative trophies to convince their followers they are on the job and resurrection of NRA principles in amended form would fill the bill nicely.

It is also conceded that industry doesn't know its own mind on this question. Most business big timers are against the idea—but enough are for it to confuse the situation. But the crux of Mr. Berry's argument—that congress will jump when the AFL snaps the whip—is rated highly debatable at best. So industrial chiefs will stay away from the conferences in droves.

Dressed

It would also be a mistake to assume that the administration is solidly in favor of reviving NRA. Secretary of Commerce Roper is opposed. So is his business advisory and planning council—which hasn't been heard from lately but will be soon.

So are most of the administration's legal advisers—who foresee enough trouble ahead for the new deal in the courts without gunning for more. These elements would like to see voluntary industrial cooperation tried out for a couple of years before any attempt is made to dope out new legislation.

It is also hinted in high places that President Roosevelt himself wants no such controversy on the calendar of the next congress. In that case Major Berry may find himself all dressed up with bright ideas and nowhere to go.

Healed

New York notes that the national labor relations board is selecting the cases testing its constitutional authority with discretion. The three so far on the map involve respectively a bus company, a steamship line and a ferry company. The interstate commerce angle is conspicuously present in all three.

That makes it harder for learned judges to dismiss the board's contentions. And once its authority is judicially upheld it will be in a far stronger position for future battles in which its jurisdiction isn't so clear.

The board is evidently in no hurry to mix into knock-down fights with recalcitrant employers. But it may be pushed into them by the Federation of Labor's intensive recruiting campaign. Certainly attempts to organize open shop industries will breed plenty of heated arguments.

Preference

The securities exchange commission has been freely charged in print with allowing professional operators to pull all sorts of fancy stock jiggles in the old deal tradition under its nose without making the slightest attempt to interfere. The criticism was getting under its skin. So there was general rejoicing in SEC circles when the crackdown on Mike Meehan was dramatically announced. One reason for it was to demonstrate that the boys are on the job.

Mike is big game too—not as big as he would have been in '29 but still a prideful exhibit for the SEC trophy room. There's been an ironic twist in the fact that the commission's first attempt to discipline a New York Stock Exchange member is directed at a former crony and supporter of Al Smith. And yet—though the commission is glad it has taken the plunge—it hadn't really planned to do so at this time. The move was precipitated by an unexpected quirk in its inner workings.

Insiders hear that John J. Burns—the commission's general counsel—is keen to be named to the post left vacant by Joe Kennedy's resignation. New Yorkers hope his ambition isn't gratified. They have never cottoned to him — even though he was Kennedy's protege and Kennedy rated ace high. Baldwin Bane—also reported in the running—would be more to their taste, although he could hardly be accused of being Wall Street's pal. Chairman Jim Landis knows how New York feels about it, but hasn't indicated whether he agrees.

Percentage

The chief factor in whatever conservative "lack of confidence" remains is fear of broader tax measures still ahead. Financial circles refuse to take the President's assurance to the contrary seriously. Agitation is expected in the next congress for levies along at least four lines.

1. If processing taxes are invalidated by the supreme court, a sales tax is looked for on products made from agricultural materials formerly subject to processing tax.

2. A heavy inheritance tax to pay the veterans' bonus. The bonus is a 20 to 1 shot to win and it might bring this added grief for the wealthy in its train.

3. Something fancy in the way of share-the-wealth taxes in connection with a bill to take the profits out of war.

4. Something to put an extra squeeze on corporate profits if additional relief appropriations are necessary.

None of these may be enacted but all will stir up excitement. And excitement of this nature—or even the prospect of it—tends to keep corporations and rich individuals from borrowing in order to build future profits. "If you win, Uncle Sam grabs off the lion's share. If you lose, the loss is your own. There's no percentage in that game."

Cute

New England textile makers have thought up an ingenious new wrinkle on tax rebates. Under the law they are entitled to a refund of processing taxes on goods exported. A number of them have applied for this refund—conveniently over-looking the fact that in many cases, thanks to injunctions and what not, the processing taxes themselves have never been paid in the first place.

Observers call it the cutest something-for-nothing device they have seen in a long time. The only trouble is that the hard-boiled treasury doesn't seem disposed to fall for it—even though the AAA is reported to favor it as a practical way to boost textile exports and thereby cotton consumption.

CHRISTOPHER SIPE RITES HELD TODAY

Body of Marion Man, Killed in Arkansas, Returned Here for Burial.

The body of Christopher Sipe, 75, of 459 South Prospect street, who was killed Tuesday near Little Rock, Ark., arrived in Marion last night and was removed to the home of his son, Walter F. Sipe with whom he lived. Funeral services were held today at 2 p. m.

Mr. Sipe left Marion the first of the week, presumably, the family believed, to spend the winter in the west.

He was killed almost instantly 15 miles east of Little Rock when struck by an automobile driven by Zeffie Albert, Negro woman of Texarkana, Ark., according to The Associated Press.

Sheriff J. M. Campbell of Little Rock said the woman was exonerated by a coroner's jury which held the accident was unavoidable.

The sheriff said two men riding in the front seat of the Negro's car declared she was unable to avoid Mr. Sipe as he walked down the highway and apparently stepped directly into the path of her car.

Rev. Franklin G. Markley of Epworth M. E. church conducted the funeral service. The body was taken to the Center cemetery near Cardington for burial.

Olives Cured At Home Are Market Innovation

Olive lovers who find cured olives a little expensive to completely satisfy their appetites can start market shopping today with a thin dime and carry home with them a whole pound of green ones for home-curing.

A number of large boxes of the fruit, fresh-picked from the trees, arrived in the storeroom of a local market dealer late yesterday direct from the California growers. The dealer has on hand recipes for curing the olives at home.

The olives, which resemble a large white grape, can be cured with lye and salt solutions in a few days, and are then ready for eating.

Few new items arrived on market stands this week, although fresh shipments of fall produce introduced during the last several weeks rolled into town. Green and wax beans are coming in now from Florida, and Louisiana shippers also are sending them along in good quantity.

The Florida oranges are coming in good quality and quantity now, and are priced reasonably. Dealers report that Iceberg lettuce has taken a jump in price because it's now between seasons in the switch-over from California to Arizona lettuce. The lettuce cutters will move over into Arizona in several weeks.

Among recent arrivals, fresh shipments of which have been received this week, are tomatoes from the Pacific coast, English walnuts, pomegranates and fresh dates from sunny California, sugared dates from Africa, California grapefruit and Brazil nuts and chestnuts. Dealers say there will be plenty of the latter, along with fresh cranberries, for the Thanksgiving dinner tables.

Those who are preparing fruit cakes for the holiday season can get the glazed fruit at one or two dealers now. It's from California, and arrived in town this week.

Lemons continued to be up a lot in price, the European war situation being the reason. Many lemons used in this country come from Italy.

Price trends in vegetables continued upward this week, due to an increased demand for the new southern and western produce.

CHIEF ASKS COURT TO DISMISS ACTION

Police Head Files Answer to Game Machine Injunction Suit.

Police Chief William E. Marks yesterday requested common pleas court to dismiss a temporary injunction granted early this month to R. G. Parman of Columbus to continue operation of vending machines in the city without interference from police.

The chief's request was in the form of an answer in the injunction suit of Parman against Chief Marks, filed in the office of Clerk of Courts Everett B. Grigsby by Police Prosecutor Z. P. Davis, representing the chief.

The temporary injunction granted Parman by the court was the second obtained by vending machine operators this month. Another injunction was obtained by a Columbus man restraining police from interfering with the operation of a coin device known as the "steam shovel" game. Parman's coin device is a mint vending machine, known as the "mint vendor," which dispenses metal tokens redeemable in trade if the customer is "lucky" in a free play he gets with the purchase of each package of mints. Parman is represented by J. W. Jacoby.

Hearings in court on the petitions of the Columbus men for permanent injunctions are expected to be held within the near future [illegible] have been delayed pending the outcome of a test case in the state courts.

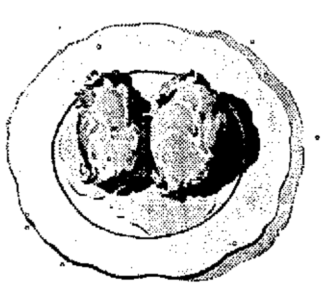
"I got mother to use Crisco," says young Mrs. Carson, "because it is so light and digestible"

Mrs. Walter T. Carson hadn't cooked with Crisco until she was a bride. "Mother had always used shortening she had rendered herself at home, so I didn't have a chance to know about Crisco," she says. "It was after I was married, three years ago, that I read about Crisco's digestibility. I'd never been able to digest greasy foods, so everything I read about Crisco appealed to me—especially that it was a pure digestible fat. I tried it and liked it a lot. I noticed that foods made with Crisco tasted better. Even when my baby was coming, I ate Crisco pastry, because it didn't give me indigestion. My doctor said it was okay as long as I felt all right. So I know Crisco is digestible. And that's why I got mother to use Crisco—she likes it now as much as I do."

MRS. CARSON'S OWN STORY IN PICTURES

MRS. CARSON READS CRISCO STORY
These CRISCO recipes sound so good. And I'm going to try CRISCO, since it's so digestible.
MRS. CARSON TELLS MOTHER
Mother, why don't you change to CRISCO? It is a fluffy, digestible shortening.
Perhaps I ought to try CRISCO—I've heard it is pure and wholesome.
WHY MRS. CARSON CHANGED TO CRISCO
You know I don't usually eat German-fried potatoes, mother. But these look so good—not greasy!
I'm glad to hear you say so, because I'm doing my frying now with CRISCO.



ANGEL FRITTERS

a dainty, digestible dessert fried in digestible Crisco

2 tablespoons Crisco	⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup flour	1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon powdered sugar	3 eggs
½ teaspoon vanilla	Crisco for deep frying

Put Crisco (the sweet, quick-digesting fat) and water in a saucepan; bring to boiling point. Sift in flour to which salt and sugar have been added and beat vigorously. When mixture forms a ball and does not stick to the side of the pan (about two minutes) turn into a bowl. Let cool two or three minutes; beat in whole eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly; add vanilla. Drop by dessert spoonfuls into Crisco (the truly digestible fat) heated to 365°F. A piece of bread will brown in 60 seconds at this temperature. Let them stay in the hot Crisco turning occasionally until they puff up and are lightly browned. Do not try to cook more than four or five of the fritters at the same time. Serve with thin honey. Or split and fill with sweetened whipped cream combined with chopped fruit or berries. Strain Crisco and use for frying again and again. Crisco keeps digestible.

WHOLE WHEAT DOUGHNUTS

to get the good out of these, fry in Crisco, the digestible fat!

¾ cup sugar	2½ cups white flour
¼ cup Crisco	4 teaspoons baking powder
3 eggs	1 teaspoon salt
1¼ cups milk	¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2½ cups whole wheat flour	¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Cream Crisco with half the sugar. Beat eggs with other half. Combine the two mixtures. Sift the baking powder, salt and spices with the white flour and mix with the whole wheat flour. Stir in alternately with the milk. If not stiff enough add more white flour. Roll out a portion at a time, on a well-floured board, shape with a doughnut cutter. Fill an ordinary deep, flat-bottomed saucepan ⅔ full with melted Crisco, the fluffy quick-digesting fat. Heat slowly until Crisco is 365-375°F., or until it browns a cube of bread in 60 seconds. Drain on paper. Sugar when cool. Notice that Crisco-fried doughnuts aren't greasy and indigestible. Strain Crisco and put away for other fryings. It keeps digestible.

CRISCO digests quickly

WRECK DELAYS IRISH GRIDDERS

Coach Pessimistic Concerning Outcome of Tilt With O S U Tomorrow

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O [illegible] 1 A hungry squad of 48 Notre Dame football players arrived about 10 a m this morning delayed more than two hours by the wreck of an Erie train

Coach Elmer Layden of the Irish was extremely pessimistic concerning the outcome of Saturday s game with Ohio state

Our only hope is to hold down the score 40 points he said

The wreck caused by derailment of two freight cars of a Pennsylvania train near Bradford O Miami county delayed breakfast for the Notre Dame gridders.

Squad Gets Hungry

There was no dining car on the train which left South Bend last night and it was a hungry squad that rolled into the union depot The players were taken to St Charles academy

Layden moved about nervously and said that we fear the worst

The only bright thing about this is the day

A clear day with moderate temperatures greeted the squad but the weather bureau predicted a change to cold tonight

The rival squads ordered locked gates for their final practice this afternoon

The Irish were assigned to work out in the gigantic Buckeye horse shoe while the Ohioans took over one of the adjacent fields

Clear Weather Seen

Weatherman William H Alexander predicted the weather Saturday would be clear with the temperature below 40 He said rain was unlikely at Columbus but probable in western Ohio

The ticket situation was clearing up Rumors that 2 000 counterfeit ducats were to flood the city were checked by detectives without result The influx of visitors sent the prices for scalpers tickets back up The scalpers were quoting single tickets at $10 and blocks proportionately higher

Coach Francis A Schmidt of the Bucks came forth with his usual pre-contest statement It looks like a tough game

A crowd of more than 80 000 will see the game the greatest throng to invade the Ohio stadium since the Michigan Ohio clash in 1926 when the attendance soared over 90 000

SERIOUS EARTHQUAKE ROCKS EASTERN U. S.

agreed that the St Lawrence fault was a likely offender

Triangulation of distance readings from seismographs in Buffalo N Y Weston Mass and New York indicated the center was not far from the source of the St Lawrence river

Felt in 17 States

The states which reported feeling the tremblors were

Maine New Hampshire Vermont Massachusetts Rhode Island Connecticut New York New Jersey Pennsylvania Delaware Maryland Ohio West Virginia Indiana Michigan Illinois and Wisconsin

The District of Columbia and the provinces of New Brunswick Ontario and Quebec also were affected

Telephone service was broken in central Ottawa and Hamilton Ont and between Rome and other cities in New York

An occasional cracked wall, a few bricks toppled from chimneys and some broken China apparently completed the damage

But easterners have never become accustomed to earthquakes and nerves suffered more than inanimate objects

A man in Plainfield N J said he felt a gentle upsurging of his house several times like the lifting of a ship on a swelling sea

Feared An Explosion

To northern New Jerseyites the movement was instantly associated with arsenals and explosives factories in the area Where s the explosion? was the question asked by hundreds

New Yorkers too thought it was an explosion Police combed the countryside for information of a blast before learning what really had happened

Buffalo reported the disturbance lasted about four minutes there Many citizens feared to go back into their homes Railroads ordered a prompt check against rock slides

Householders in Portland Me said buildings swayed so strongly they were sickened The tremblor was accompanied by a rumbling they said

ROOSEVELT WILL SEND WREATH FOR MEMORIAL

Fort Hayes Officer Designated To Represent President in Ceremony To Be Part of Pilgrimage

Colonel William C Christy of Fort Hayes Columbus who has been designated to place President Roosevelt s wreath on the tomb of the late President Harding at the annual Harding Memorial pilgrimage service Sunday afternoon was in Marion yesterday conferring with Arthur E Brooks head of the Harding Area of Boy Scouts and Alfred Donithen member of the pilgrimage committee

Lieut Col F M Watson military aid to President Roosevelt informed Mr Brooks of the arrangements for placing the wreath in a letter written at the White House on Wednesday

News broadcasts of the pilgrimage will be made Saturday at 12 15 p m Marion time from station WLW in Cincinnati and at 9 30 p m from station WSAI in Cincinnati according to word received today by Mr Brooks

Judge Russell H Kear of Upper Sandusky and Judge C [illegible] of Bucyrus are among the men who have said they will be present for the service which will be conducted at 2 30 p m at the Harding Memorial with Judge Carl V Weygandt chief justice of the supreme court of Ohio as the principal speaker

Two Cincinnati Boy Scouts will come to Marion Sunday to lay on the tomb a wreath provided for by a private endowment made by Cincinnati friends of the late President The Marion Girl Scouts will place a wreath on the tomb of Mrs Harding

CURL WILL APPEAL SENTENCE OF COURT

Case of Marion Man In Wayne County Will Be Carried Higher

Error proceedings will be filed in the court of appeals by Johnston J Curl of Marion who yesterday was sentenced in Wayne county common pleas court to 15 consecutive terms of one to three years in the Ohio penitentiary on charges of issuing checks without funds his attorney Fred W Warner said today

Curl will contend the prosecution failed to show there was any intent to defraud in the circumstances that resulted in the charges being filed Mr Warner said The checks involved in the case allegedly were signed by Curl as secretary of the Wooster Livestock Sales Co

An appeal bond of $10 000 cash or $20 000 in property was fixed for Curl in common pleas court at Wooster today a news dispatch reported By furnishing the bond Curl could be free pending the outcome of the error proceedings He was not in court when the bond was fixed and had not furnished it at noon today

HUGE BUDGET BILL WINS OKAY IN HOUSE

at 10 30 p m last night until this morning

Gov Davey s own ideas run to restorations of possibly $1 000 000 and prompt new vetoes of any over that figure

Beyond these items is the determination of Hamilton county men headed by Rep Fred S Reiners Republican to push amendments to execute recommendations of the Ohio government survey

Reiners said the net reductions of the amendments would be $2 8[illegible]5 000 bringing the total revised budget to $87 517 000 or $1 355 000 lower than the figure the governor left

The $2 483 793 slash in the highway department is expected to draw fire from Davey

Wants Fund Intact

He left the department s appropriation intact when he announced his vetoes He said it is desirable to keep the highway fund intact in order to match federal funds that are available and have the maximum for highway improvement maintenance and employment

But Rep F R King Republican of Vinton county secured passage of the amendment designed to carry out survey recommendations in the department and cut $1 057 281 from the maintenance and repair fund and $9[illegible]0 492 from the construction fund The senate finance committee proposes reductions of $1 000 000 from construction and $300 000 from maintenance and repair

Another cut expected to draw the governor s fire was one of $22 300 from the appropriation for his office Of this $20 000 was for salaries Republicans with the aid of nine Democrats put it over 67 to 46

GROUP TO OPPOSE NEW STATE TAXES

1936 Mr Brown explained adding that the organizations sponsoring the study have approved the report and is setting up committees in every county

The Marion county committee in addition to the officers consists of Fred F Cuthery A W Newby Harry Margwarth Carl T Smart M E Burke J M Kleinmaier Harry Crawbaugh Phil Ruehrmund C A Klunk Carl E Danner C R Harrison John J Hurbner W H Lingo of LaRue Chris Turoff M E Baldwin Dr J A Dodd C L Hill C G Ungericht Ray Ceer A C Bachman Wallace W Thompson Bernard R Smith Carl J Watrous and F C Siefert

Will Contact Legislators

The committee at its first meeting last night approved the report and made plans to keep in close touch with all proposed taxation legislation at the special session of the legislature scheduled for this month The group will urge Earl F Thomas Marion county representative in the state legislature and John F Bower of Rushsylvania state senator from the Thirteenth Thirty first district of which Marion county is a part to oppose any new state taxation measures Mr Brown said

The Marion county committee will not meet regularly but will be subject to call whenever action on state taxation matters come up Mr Brown said

He emphasized that the committee is not concerning itself with local taxes and that the opposition to new sources of state revenue in no way reflects the committee s attitude on local taxation matters.

MARION IN SECTION HIT BY EARTHQUAKE

Both Mrs Dawn Ansley and her daughter Lucille were awakened and the daughter said she thought someone was moving about in the house She called to her mother They reported several vibrations

Citizens of Cleveland Columbus Dayton Toledo Zanesville Akron and Cincinnati were among the first to report the shock which was part of a quake that rolled across the entire eastern part of the nation The time was variously estimated from 1 06 a m to 1 10 a m

Almost every person who was awake at that hour noticed the disturbance when floors shook windows rattled chairs rocked but few realized that it was an earth tremor

Attendants in Mercy hospital Toledo reported one patient s bed moved three feet In other hospitals there nearly all the patients were awakened

At Mansfield 25 employes in the Westinghouse plant left their work on the top floor

Residents of a Dayton apartment building said steam radiators and lamps appeared to shake at first and that later the whole building shook

A crack in the plaster of the auditorium hotel in Cleveland was noted by hotel officials Several of the older buildings in Cleveland also bore cracks

In several Cleveland hotels guests arose and donned their clothes when their beds began to quiver In the Hollenden the gas supply was shut off by engineers

At Youngstown small objects fell from shelves in two apartment buildings At the United States Airways station near Fremont meteorologists reported that a pendulum maintained in a laboratory swung more than half an inch

Hundreds of persons in Akron called police headquarters in the belief there had been an explosion Many persons were awakened in Conneaut Several guests at a hotel in Wellington ran into the street in night attire

Organizations Support Levy

The levy originally was passed 10 years ago to break the practice of issuing bonds each year to pay operating deficits The pay as you go basis that resulted from adoption of the levy in 1925 and won the approval of voters in 1930 when they renewed the levy for another five years This year with the levy up for another five year renewal period civic and social organizations virtually unanimously have given the levy their indorsement and are joining school officials in a request that the levy be continued and a well rounded school program assured

TWO GIRLS ESCAPE HOME AT DELAWARE

MARION CO. GROUP AT HUSKING EVENT

5 000 Brave Rain and Mud To Watch Contest at Paulding Today

[illegible] ads of Marion county residents were among [illegible] who braved a drizzling rain and waded ankle deep mud today to witness the state corn husking contests on farms near Paulding today

The Associated Press reported the downpour turned cornfields of the G S Hunter and W F Piock farms into acres of mud but 70 county champions and last years champion George Leisinger of Lucas county managed to complete the shock contest Ralph Augerstine of [illegible] who won the Marion county contest last Saturday by husking 18 bushels was scheduled to take part in this contest

Results were not to be tabulated until late this afternoon All contestants said they expected no records would be broken

With a slackening of the rain the standing corn contest in which Marion county was to be represented by Earl [illegible] of Scott township was to be held this afternoon with 20 county champions and the last year champion Ammanuel Dierckman taking part

The women s contest with 10 entrants was scheduled for this afternoon.

For what was believed to be the first time in the history of the event a mother and son were entered in the state contest today Mrs A J Petry and her son O A Petry residents of near Dayton represented Montgomery county among the 52 entries Nine other women were entered

Mrs Petry asserting my son and I are entered with the intention of taking home the title pointed to her title of Montgomery county champion She stripped 7 1 bushels from the husks in 40 minutes half the time alloted to men in title matches Her son won the county standing corn contest with 18 27 bushels

Hopes of all contestants are centered on the national match to be held in Indianapolis

Men winners of both the standing corn and shocked corn divisions will receive a silver trophy and $100 in cash while $40 is the big attraction for the women

DUCE QUALIFIES HIS TERMS FOR PEACE

league delegate the tireless Baron Pompeo Aloisi

The return of the baron from Rome today was accepted as a sign that Mussolini still hoped to accomplish his purposes in Africa without suffering the threatened punishment of the league

Trio Assembles

Premier Laval Sir Samuel and Baron Aloisi met early this morning Sir Samuel s first act on arriving at Geneva was to seek an interview with Mussolini s envoy and a date was made for the meeting early this evening

That the menace of the war spreading to Europe was far more dangerous than the actual fighting to date in Ethiopia was indicated in an official announcement in Rome today that said only one Italian officer and four Italian enlisted men had died in combat in Ethiopia The death list was exclusive of native soldiers fighting for Italy

Emperor Haile Selassie has repeatedly stated that the casualties among his soldiers to date have been negligible and that there have been no conflicts at arms of any significance

But the maintenance in the Mediterranean of England s grand fleet despite Italian objections afford a definite cause for alarm among the nations at Geneva which are committed to united action against Italy but which in the final analysis must look to England and France to swing the big stick if the time to swing it should come

Selassie Army Overmanned

Emperor Selassie now has all his armies raised to their full war strength He indicated it at Addis Ababa today when he turned down the application of thousands of his subjects for war service He explained that his armies already were overmanned When the volunteers heard this many of them wept

A paradox is found in the fact that while one of Italy s purposes of invasion is to emancipate Ethiopia s slaves thousands of the latter insisting upon going to war with their masters and this despite the fact that Emperor Selassie abolished slavery by proclamation several months ago

The women of Ethiopia as fiercely resentful of the Italian invasion as the men are cooperating by baking bread and preparing spiced meats for their warriors at the front.

Makale s Fall Denied

Sensational reports of the military activity such as marked the early weeks of the undeclared war are not heard as frequently now There was one today however that the Italians had captured Makale which is their next objective after Aduwa and Adigrat which they captured early in the campaign The Makale report was obviously erroneous to observers who are acquainted with the difficulties of the terrain intervening between Adigrat and Makale

Italy s King Victor Emanuel who has been letting Il Duce do most of the talking to date came out openly and publicly today in support of the campaign against Ethiopia He said Italy had no intention of disturbing world peace and added that Italy "asks nothing more than to be permitted to enjoy the fullness of her life

Gen Emilio De Bono commanding the Italian army on the northern front advised Rome that Ethiopian chiefs and notables continued to come over to the Italian side.

Battle Reported

From Mogadiscio Italian Somaliland came word of a battle in which 11 Ethiopians and three native Italian troopers on the southern front were killed The Italians members of irregular forces surprised the Ethiopians at Malke Se[illegible] said the dispatches as the latter were planning an attack

One of the emperor s associates said of the Ethiopian terrain the most highly mechanized army in the world would only smash its head against these mighty natural fortresses which are like the great canyons of Colorado and California

The government announced Ras Desta Demtu son in law of Emperor Haile Selassie and commander in chief on the southern front telegraphed an Italian plane was brought down Tuesday near Dolo

PREMIER OF CHINA AND 3 OTHERS SHOT

Judicial Yuan and Kan Nai Kuang chief of the political bureau of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek s headquarters also was wounded

The premier s assailant was identified authorities announced as Sun Mingh Sun reporter for a Chinese news agency The officials alleged that Sun used a camera as a shield for his pistol in the attack

Despite the consternation caused by the attempted assassination Nationalist government officials decided to continue the meeting of the central executive committee with Finance Minister H H Kung acting for Wang as chairman

The capital took on the aspect of an armed camp Streets were filled with policemen carrying rifles

Speculation was rife to the effect that the shooting might be the first blow by proponents of resistance to Japan who had become increasingly in evidence recently after application of new Japanese pressure on the north

The meeting of the central executive committee expected to deal with the question of whether opposition to Japanese [illegible] China had [illegible] the great [illegible] of China [illegible] gained here in many years

GARAGE NEAR LARUE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Tank Explosions and Flaming Oil Menace Firemen, Loss Placed at $3 500

Special to The Star

LARUE O., Nov 1—Fire of undetermined origin razed the Sager garage three and one half miles south of LaRue on the Essex road about 9 30 last night and destroyed uninsured property valued at $3 500

Exploding tanks of alcohol and oil hurled tools and pieces of the roof 100 feet into the air and the roaring flames kept volunteer firemen of LaRue from effectively operating a chemical truck

An automobile owned by Dwight Sager operator of the garage was destroyed

When Sager and his father Frank Sager at whose farm the garage was situated were awakened by a passing motorist and told of the fire about 10 p m the frame building already was enveloped in flames and soon the 100-gallon drum of alcohol four 100 gallon tanks of motor oil and a large drum of coal oil exploded

The height to which the flames leaped and the noise of the exploding tanks and drums drew more than 100 persons to the scene in a few minutes

Dwight Sager said when the garage was closed at 6 last night all waste cloth had been destroyed and the entire garage thoroughly cleaned

NMATES OF "DEATH ROW" RELATE VARYING STORIES

[illegible] Testimony Given in Courts and Point to [illegible] While Awaiting Chair.

[illegible] Associated Press [illegible]—Ohio [illegible] are doomed [illegible] of concern today, as the members languished in "death row" cells.

Only two of the eight men awaiting death in the electric chair refused to talk.

They pace their cells, read newspapers and magazines, play solitaire, talk with one another, but seldom refer to their particular plights or what is being done "outside" for a last minute reprieve.

Awaits Davey's Action

Ethol Lamphier, 45, Huron county engineer, hopes for word from the governor to halt his execution, scheduled Friday night.

He was convicted of slaying Mrs. Katherine Wilde, 65-year-old Norwalk widow.

In death row, Lamphier disputes testimony that convicted him.

"I was drunk at the time, and with a companion, tried to get some tools which belonged to me out of the house," he said. "I never killed her. The fellow with me that night must have done it."

Lamphier, a former inmate of the Massillon State hospital for insane, just "kills time" in his cell. He said he can not keep his mind on books.

Julius Turner, 42, Negro, awaiting electrocution for killing a man in a card game, was sentenced from Montgomery county. He is scheduled to die Jan. 6, 1936.

Refused to Talk

When asked by a guard if he would talk to a newspaperman, he stopped pacing his unlighted cell, peered through the screen and turned his back.

Jake "Firetop" Sulkin, 44, convicted from Lucas county for alleged complicity in four Licavoli gang slayings, was taking his "exercise."

"There's nothing more I can say," he smiled. "I appreciate the efforts they're making to save me, and that's about all."

Sulkin, a World war veteran, reads three books a day. The supreme court recently set Nov. 13 as his "last" day.

Jessie Thompson, 67, Negro, has until Dec. 17.

A Highland county gambling house operator, he was sentenced to die for killing a patron who had fought with him over a 25-cent loan.

Says Trial Not Fair

"I didn't get a fair trial," he said. "The witnesses were tampered with and the attorney appointed to defend me was ignorant of the law."

He said he didn't know whether he was "ready to go," but he was without the necessary funds to obtain a new trial. Thompson has been in the "annex" for 50 days.

Norman Peacock, 22, youngest man awaiting death, blamed newspaper writeups for his plight.

"I won't talk," he said. "That's why I'm in here. I refused to talk before and then they printed a bunch of stuff that wasn't so."

He is to be electrocuted Jan. 16 for killing a girl in Hamilton county in perpetration of a robbery.

Adjoining Peacock's cell, Alva Conner, 45, stopped whistling as a guard asked him if he would say a few words.

"I know I shouldn't be in here that's all I can say," was his answer.

Case Under Review

The court of appeals is reviewing his plea for a commutation, although he refused to conjecture on the outcome.

He was sentenced to die Dec. 11 for fatally stabbing an Akron man who interfered in a fight with a parking lot operator.

He testified that he was drunk at the time.

Donald Eberle, 30-year-old Cleveland machinist, was convicted in the killing of a meat dealer's son during a robbery.

His execution date is Jan. 23, 1936.

"If I could get another trial," he declared, "I'll bet they wouldn't convict me again.

"I haven't anything to kick about in the treatment here, but I just try not to think by reading all the time. Maybe dad will be able to help me get 'life'."

A Bible, stuck between the bars, was conspicuous in the cell occupied by James Thompson, 22, convicted of wrecking a train and causing the death of two trainmen in an attempted robbery.

Farmer Denies Guilt

Thompson, Lawrence county farmer, appeared haggard as he declared his innocence.

"I know I'm not guilty of wrecking that train," he said, "because I was in Cincinnati when it happened." The state contends Elbridge Frank Smith of Columbus registered for Thompson at a Cincinnati police station the night of the wreck to establish an alibi. Smith is on trial for first degree murder also.

"If the Lord sees fit, he'll do something for me," Thompson commented. "If he doesn't I guess I'll have to go. I pray every night though, and I'm hoping."

In some of the cells, pictures of movie stars share wall space with magazines, tobacco and personal belongings.

One inmate classed the present group of condemned men as "jolly."

"We all try to keep cheered up," he explained.

For cleaning buildings and machinery a machine mounted on two wheels for towing behind an automobile has been invented; steam generated in a boiler sprays chemical cleaning compounds on soiled surfaces.

Providing temperatures up to 400 degrees, a compact electrically heated tool that can be operated from a light socket has been invented to thaw frozen water pipes in a house and do various tasks about an automobile.

BETTY WAS FRAIL AND NERVOUS —READ WHAT HAPPENED THEN

OH DEAR...THEY'RE TEASING BETTY AGAIN. SHE'S SO FRAIL AND NERVOUS....
BETTY, COME IN THE HOUSE.
LOOK AT THAT, MARY...SHE'S 10 POUNDS UNDERWEIGHT AND SO FUSSY ABOUT HER FOOD SHE SCARCELY EATS A THING!
WHAT SHE NEEDS IS OVALTINE, SUSIE. IT'S SIMPLY MARVELOUS THE WAY IT HELPS SO MANY POOR EATERS EAT AND PUT ON WEIGHT.
YOU MEAN THE SWISS FOOD-DRINK I'VE READ SO MUCH ABOUT?
THAT'S IT...AND THEY SAY IT WORKS WONDERS WITH LOTS OF NERVOUS CHILDREN, TOO! WHY DON'T YOU START GIVING IT TO BETTY TODAY?
A CAN OF OVALTINE, PLEASE.
WHAT! ANOTHER CUP OF OVALTINE? WELL IT CERTAINLY MUST TASTE GOOD TO MAKE YOU ASK FOR MORE!
SOME TIME LATER
DID YOU SEE THAT? SHE EVEN ATE HER VEGETABLES WITHOUT ANY COAXING AT ALL!
BY GEORGE, THAT'S RIGHT! AND SHE'D HARDLY TOUCH THEM BEFORE!
STILL LATER
LOOK AT THIS, SUSIE... 15 POUNDS IN JUST 8 WEEKS. SHE'S CERTAINLY BLOSSOMING OUT.
YES... AND WHAT'S MORE, HER TEACHER SAYS SHE'S A DIFFERENT CHILD IN SCHOOL
LATER
JUST LOOK AT THOSE ROSY CHEEKS! YOU'RE A WONDER WOMAN, SUSIE!

. . . And Now Read What These Mothers Write:—

"My little girl, age seven, has always been rather nervous, underweight and a light sleeper. A week ago she began drinking Ovaltine, and it is hard to believe she is the same child now. That tired, languorous feeling is gone, her appetite has improved 100%, and it is a pleasure not to have to scold her about eating. Also she sleeps splendidly. Ovaltine has certainly taken a great worry off my mind"—writes Mrs. Herbert Lee, 4437 Magnolia Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Another delighted mother, Mrs. J. H. Bowman, 4919 Natural Bridge, St. Louis, Mo., writes:—"Alice Ruth, who is 11, has been nervous all her life. If we took her to a movie or any place exciting, she would not sleep at night. Then I decided to try Ovaltine. Now she sleeps fine and is rapidly gaining weight."

These letters cover, of course, only [illegible]

Naturally, we do not claim or guarantee that similar results will occur in every case where Ovaltine is used. But this letter is so typical of thousands we have received, that we believe a thorough trial of Ovaltine is justified by every intelligent mother in similar cases of nervousness, poor appetite and underweight.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Boys Go Along To Obtain Bait for a Fishing Session

AS I ASKED Mrs Gibbs now [illegible] long she thought it would be before her daughter Betty heard the revised opinion of her gameness uttered by Junior and Roderick she wrinkled her forehead for a second and then laughed a bit ruefully

You're right she said It will be a great deal better if I tell her deflating her a bit in the process But by and large she looked at me mischievously doesn't it strike you that we bid fair to have an interesting summer — for children and grown ups?

It has already struck me—and forcibly I returned laughing Unfortunately Mrs Bickett will have most of the excitement I must go back home in two or three days

Yes Katrina told me something of your problems she said but you're surely coming back up here later?

Anxious To Return

If I have to trample women and children in my rush for the boats I shall be here I told her smiling then added doubtfully

I had intended asking you if Betty could come with us when we went for the boat—

Not this time she said decisively If this particular incident hadn't happened I should have loved to let her go She has very few playmates up here and your boys are charming

I read beneath her words a flattering tribute

But you see don't you she went on that if she went with you now I am sure indeed that she would not wish to go even if I told her she could she and the boys would be self-conscious When you actually get to fishing I'll try to engineer a natural meeting if not tonight tomorrow

I bow to your wisdom I said And now I must get back to my fishing party Incidentally you may be sure my son and my nephew will have a few words said to them concerning their share in this

She looked at me quizzically

Going After Bait

I thought you were just that kind of hard hearted mother she said laughing but something in her voice told me that she approved of my proposed discipline

How about it Nell? Mr Gibbs voice put a period to our colloquy Do you want to take these folks down for bait or shall I?

I wish you would go she said I have a session on my hands She inclined her head slightly toward the house

I thought so her husband said with a chuckle Then he turned to me Is there room in your car?

Williams spoke quickly You won't need me Mrs Graham if Mr Gibbs goes along and there are several things I'd like to do at the camp If you don't mind I'll just walk back there It's only a few steps

The distance between the camps and the house was nearer a half mile but I knew that to Williams the walk was nothing and I acquiesced quickly

If you'll just get in front with me Mr Gibbs I said The boys have been waiting for a chance to sit with the collie

Scottie Can't Go

Mr Gibbs looked a bit perturbed Would it spoil your plans if the dog went back to the camp with Mr Williams? he asked You'll want quite an outfit of crayfish and worms and they're messy things If the dog happened to upset a box with his paw—

Say no more I said I can imagine the rest Do you mind taking the dog back with you? I addressed Williams directly

Not in the least he returned

I think we'll go to Benjy's first Mr Gibbs said and there was that in his voice which made me suspect that he was enjoying some secret jest

Benjy's quite an institution up in these here mountings he went on Everybody who gets bait up here knows Benjy You boys will enjoy seeing him He turned to the boys who were sitting in glum disappointed silence at having Scottie sent back to the camp Benjy's continued Mr Gibbs about the best bait finder in the country

Bursa Injury.

Every joint is surrounded by a cap or sac called a bursa It contains a fluid which is provided to lubricate the joint and permit free movement

Frequently a bursa becomes injured perhaps because of a fall or blow This may result in a form of inflammation spoken of as bursitis an annoying and disabling affliction

It may involve any joint of the body but the knee joint is most commonly affected Inflammation of this joint produces a symptom which has caused it to be called water on the knee Since the disturbance is frequently encountered among housemaids who scrub floors it is sometimes referred to as housemaid's knee

Like all other acute inflammations bursitis is painful and annoying As a rule it follows an injury like a bump or blow Hard pressure from any cause may lead to inflammation of the bursa

The joint becomes red swollen and moderately warm Any movement is painful Sometimes the pain may be so severe as to prevent bending walking or even standing It seriously interferes with sleep and prolonged pain may require the administration of an opiate

Do not confuse bursitis with rheumatism neuritis or arthritis The pain of bursitis is severe and prolonged not intermittent There is the history of some trauma fall or blow

Never neglect bursitis In the acute form it is best to have the involved joint placed in a comfortable and well padded splint If the knee joint is involved it is well to remain in bed When the shoulder or elbow joint is inflamed crowds and narrow passages should be avoided to prevent any accidental blow to the inflamed part

Bear in mind that neglect of bursitis may lead to permanent deformity of the joint Infection may occur too a [illegible] that even requires operation This is not likely to respond to simple form of medica[illegible] The sufferer has considerable pain and discomfort and permanent relief can only be had by means of surgery

An acute injury of a joint is best treated by fixing the part so it won't be [illegible] and to give it complete rest If relief is not obtained within [illegible] four hours the doctor should be called [illegible] quickly certain [illegible] should be taken to prevent future disability

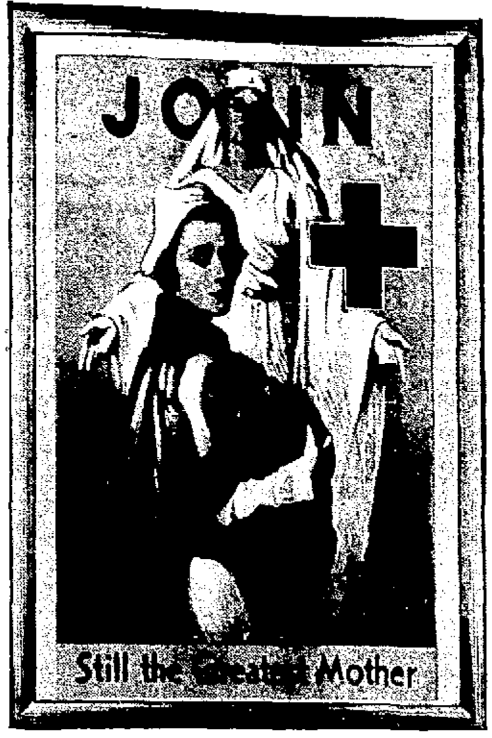
1935 Red Cross Poster Drawn by Famous Artist



The compelling appeal of the most famous of Red Cross world war posters has been adapted by the distinguished artist Lawrence Wilbur in the 1935 Red Cross roll call poster.

"The Greatest Mother in the World" was the title given to the original creation of Alonzo Earl Foringer, eminent mural artist and illustrator of New York. The poster gave the keynote of the second war fund drive of the Red Cross, and millions of copies were distributed throughout the nation.

In submitting a design for the 1935 poster, Wilbur, who has painted a number of posters for the Red Cross, placed the shadowy, heroic figure of mercy in the background, with the practical Red Cross nurse succoring a sick and wounded child in the foreground. "Still the Greatest Mother" is his title.

The posters are distributed through 3,700 Red Cross chapters and 9,000 branches in an appeal to every man and woman to join as a member during the annual roll call which will start in Marion county on Armistice day, Nov. 11.

53 NEW CARS SOLD HERE IN OCTOBER

Fifty-three new automobiles, and 11 new trucks were among 768 motor vehicles sold in Marion county in October, according to the record of bills of sale filed in the office of Clerk of Courts Everett B. Grigsby.

While the number of new automobiles represent a decrease of one compared to the number sold in October a year the total vehicles sold increased by 88. A year ago 685 bills of sales were filed, which included 54 new automobiles and 18 new trucks.

[illegible] TWENTY-FIVE

[illegible]-Raising

T[illegible] [illegible]ssed on the stones, [illegible] rolled out in billows. [illegible] singing a Finnish [illegible] Tecla was beating [illegible] a bundle of cedar [illegible] their spicy fragrance [illegible] the air.

[illegible] had loved Anne [illegible] now he loved Sharlee. [illegible] straight. Rob Crocker [illegible] Fransworth Fisheries [illegible] might as well face the [illegible] pang of jealousy [illegible] through her at the [illegible] two changed to contempt.

[illegible] had seen Anne only [illegible]tion of the fisheries. Now that she was no longer connected with them and Lee was [illegible] he was turning to Sharlee who stood in the spotlight Anne had commanded.

"Time for shower," Tecla announced.

Anne who had copied the others [illegible] her skin with the boughs until it was rosy pink, gasped as the ice cold drops cut down from [illegible] She could hear the laugh of others from their cubicles, hear them call in Finnish over the low partitions, but it all seemed very unreal.

Tecla appeared at the door of her shower with a sheet. "The towel is for your hair," she explained. "Wrap in this."

"But I'm wet—"

"Like velvet your skin when it dries of itself," Tecla promised, and with Anne feeling like a Roman senator, draped in the sheet, she preceded her to a little room lined with bunks.

Anne lay on one of these, smiled at Tecla's insistance she relax. She focused her gaze on the rough boards of the wall and pretended to obey.

She could feel the sting of Sharlee's triumph at having won her fiance. She didn't love him, and yet her mouth curved into a piteous smile as she thought of a caricatured scene, Crocker, his arms around the fisheries rather than around Sharlee.

The aching muscles were easing, the gnawing hurt that the sight of Crocker had brought was dulled. Anne snuggled her head into the pillow. The blessed realization was coming to her that at least she didn't have to face others while she watched Sharlee and Rob; that she wouldn't have to watch them at all, here in this haven.

"Nice nap?"

Anne opened her eyes. The others, fully clothed, were standing beside her bunk laughing. Liisa's top knot, triumphantly erect and gleaming with the strenuous brushing it had received, seemed to join in her amusement.

They drank cups of steaming hot coffee.

"Was I asleep?" she asked in surprise.

They were still laughing when they left the bathhouse, and all about her Anne heard soft chuckling sounds of amusement, peppered with Finnish words.

Like a crowd of school-girls, they trooped to a coffee house built out over the water, sat on high stools at a long counter and drank cups of steaming black coffee, and munched on frosted cakes.

It was here the boys found them. Marching in like a triumphal procession they came, surrounded by friends.

"We've got her," Orvi announced, "she'll be the C F 54, but we'll call her 'Nikki'."

"And Monday, we'll go for a trial cruise," George assured them.

"They mean the boat," explained John Neuman.

"You think it is a good boat?" Tecla asked him seriously.

"Fine," Neuman agreed and Tecla nodded with a satisfaction that was amusing to Anne, who saw in it perfect confidence in John's word.

The morning following came the house-raising, although to Anne it seemed more like a tearing down. John, at the request of the others, took charge and Anne understood why. It seemed to her that he was born to command. Under his direction the wall between the two front rooms was leveled. Arch-like stanchions were slipped in to brace the ceiling, the debris swept away and the holes the partitions had left were quickly patcher with plaster.

In the other rooms neighbors were tearing paper from the walls patching holes and cracks, and when this was completed, painting wainscoting. Out in the yard a delegation cleared the weeds from flower beds, rebuilt walks and strengthened the long stairway.

Down in the Sorki kitchen the women gathered, cooking great pans of fish pudding, pots of vegetables, squares of herry cobbler and boilers of coffee.

It was, they explained, a festival. Anne caught the spirit of it and though she understood but little of what was said, she found the laughter and gaiety infectious, and joined them.

John, seeing an inquiring look upon her face, joined her, interpreting their jokes and the folk songs they sang.

"I'll bring mother's books over to you," he promised, "dictionaries, translations and her notes."

"You mean she isn't Finnish?"

"No, as Irish as Paddy's pig, and my sister took after her, while I—"

"Took after your father. You are all Finn, John," interposed Tecla, laughing.

"No, Tecla," he corrected gravely, "all American."

"Yes," she agreed sobering, "so are we all though we cannot speak the language to let others know we feel so."

Anne awakened with thought of the all-Amrrican, the next morning. He was going on the trial cruise of the new boat with them, but she was sure he had nothing to do with trouble she took going through her trunks to find a scarlet sweater and Breton beret to go with her dark slacks. Besides she took equal care to provide Miini with a delft blue outfit.

It was a brisk day with a high wind piling waves into froth capped billows, piling cumulus clouds into downy white masses along the horizon.

Nearing the wharf, Anne noticed a group of men talking. Her attention was distracted for a moment.

At last, the truth about Rob Crocker comes out, tomorrow.

COUPLE MARRIED AT HOME NEAR EDISON

Special to The Star

CALEDONIA, Nov. 1—The marriage of Miss Naomi R. Lepp, daughter of A. R. Lepp of near Edison, and David D. Cass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Cass of near Iberia, was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's father. Eighteen of the immediate relatives and friends of the couple witnessed the double ring ceremony read by the bride's uncle, Rev. G. A. Hickson, pastor of Memorial M. E. church. John Hickson, of Delaware, cousin of the bride sang "I Love You Truly" with piano accompaniment by Miss Elizabeth Caldwell. The bride wore a gown of brown crepe. Her flowers were a corsage of sweetpeas. A wedding luncheon with appointments in yellow and white, the bride's colors, was served, following the ceremony. Yellow chrysanthemums carried out a decorative note. Mr. and Mrs. Cass will make their home with the bride's father.

ADJUTANT HUNTER TO ATTEND MEETING

Adjutant John Hunter of the Salvation Army will go to Cincinnati tonight where he will join Major Fred Malpass of that city and other officers of the district, and Saturday morning leave for New York City to attend a special field officers council to be held Nov. 5, 6 and 7. Adjutant Hunter has been chosen as one of a group of officers to prepare a paper on Salvation Army activities for the conference.

Going to New York with Major Malpass and Adjutant Hunter will be Captain Hillis of Portsmouth and Captain Baggs of Piqua. They expect to be in the east about a week.

The council program includes two sessions on Tuesday and three each on Wednesday and Thursday.

The Stars Say--

For Saturday, Nov. 2.

A PARTICULARLY lovely and eventful day is forecast from the prevailing planetary configurations. The emphasis may be found on the social, domestic or romantic functions, with the possibility of an intrigue of great moment in the latter. This affair may precipitate a radical change in the environs, interests and associates. But the menace of deception or misrepresentation in correspondence, calls for discretion. Friendship and sentiment rule the day.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves launched in a year of romance, sentiment and friendship. Elements of intrigue may be sensational and call for a complete change in the life, associates and surroundings. Discretion is enjoined and care is urged in all writings.

A child born on this day may be given to sensational love affairs. It will be gracious, affectionate, cultured and charming.

BIG TEN TITLE BREW COMES TO A BOIL IN SATURDAY'S GAMES

Minnesota Purdue Tilt Second Only to Ohio Notre Dame Encounter

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov 1 [illegible]

[illegible] with [illegible] Scarlet [illegible] of Ohio State [illegible] games steps out in [illegible] effort to [illegible] just as people have been saying it is going [illegible] Notre Dame. The Irish also [illegible] defense have been [illegible] but so far have had what it took to withstand the pressure. The 80,000 spectators in the big horseshoe stadium figure to see every bit as much of a battle as the experts.

Up at Minneapolis Minnesota is battling for at least a piece of the Big Ten title [illegible] national championship [illegible] meets Purdue. The Boilermakers no longer rate for more than a share of conference honors since losing to Carnegie Tech last week but are expected to give the Gophers a rousing struggle. Minnesota will be favored but not by much. The Boilermakers defeated Chicago and Northwestern in their two conference starts while Minnesota whipped Northwestern in its only league game.

Iowa victor over Illinois in its first Big Ten assignment seeks to maintain a title pace against Indiana at Iowa City. The swift tugged Iowans appear to be strong enough to make it two victories but are pretty certain of having their hands full. The Hoosiers have been threatening to upset someone.

There will be no championship business involved when Illinois and Northwestern clash at Evanston but each eleven has something at stake. The Illini will be taking to the comeback trail while Northwestern beaten by Purdue Ohio State and Minnesota but improved in every game sees the spot for a first Big Ten victory of the season.

Michigan renews its rivalry with Pennsylvania in the intersectional game of the program but will tackle the easterners with one eye on its conference tussle at Illinois next week. Chicago and Wisconsin which meet Ohio State and Purdue respectively a week hence have open dates.

SHAKESPEARE PRIZE PUNTER FOR IRISH

Harding Getting Set for Ashland Game Saturday

Hampered by injuries the Harding High football team was going through last minute preparations today for their North Central Ohio conference game at Ashland Saturday.

Clinging tenaciously to their third place tie in the N C O league with Galion the Cramermen enter the final quarter of the season.

Victory or defeat at Ashland Saturday will mean the difference between landing in the top flight or cellar position in the league standing.

Three on Injured List

On the injured list this morning were three stalwarts who have carried their share of the battle in previous encounters. Braily regular right end was injured during the Galion game last week and has attended classes only one day this week. He will probably be unable to make the trip with the Presidents when they leave for Ashland. Dave Ianly playing right tackle has been confined to his home by illness and it is doubtful whether he will see any action Saturday. Huntsman left end is having trouble with the cut lip he suffered in practice last week. Kayoed on a line play he was attended by Dr R T Morgan who put three stitches in the split lip. Failure of the injury to heal properly caused Huntsman's absence from school yesterday.

Coach Carl Cramer has been giving his younger men an opportunity to show their football skill in an effort to bolster the strength of the team. Many shifts in the line up are expected when the Harding team goes on the field at Myers park in Ashland. Several men moved up from the reserve squad to fill varsity positions during practice this week and they will be given a chance to show their stuff against heavy opposition.

Hockensmith Ashland Star

Red Langley coach at Ashland according to reports from that city is banking his hopes on nearly the same squad which marched to a 21 to 12 victory over the previously unbeaten Shelby team. Three of the Hilltoppers loom as especially menacing to the hopes of the Presidents. One of them Bus Hockensmith quarterback is known as a consistent ground gainer for Ashland. He is also to be feared for the long punts he gets away fast and with deadly accuracy.

Captain Bud Plank at right end has seen much service this season. He has been dependable and steady in his work with the Ashland squad. Clarence Pete Risser of the Hilltoppers is an all around handy man. He plays guard on offense because he can pull out of the line and mow down defenders.

Saturday's game will mark the dedication of the new Guy C Myers field house at Myers field in Ashland. The dedication ceremonies are to begin with a flag raising at 1 45 p m and the football game is to get underway at 2 30 p m.

Ashland High's team this year has won three games out of seven starts. They have lost to Elyria, Dover, Tiffin Jr O U A M and Mansfield and have defeated Norwalk, Galion and Shelby. In N C O contests they fell before Mansfield 19 to 12 and scored victories over Galion 19 to 13 and Shelby 21 to 12.

Marion-Bucyrus Game Scheduled

Bucyrus and Marion high school football squads will meet at the Harding stadium Nov 16 according to an announcement made this morning by K H Marshall principal of Harding High school. This game is an addition to the season's schedule of the two teams.

Proceeds from the game will be added to the fund for the purchase of band uniforms. Plans are already going forward for a pre game ticket sale by high school students.

TIGERS WIN IN COURT CONTEST

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Nov 1 — The Marysville Tigers basketball team won its fourth straight pre season game Wednesday night in the local armory by defeating the Economy Market quintet of Columbus 29 to 25. Dale Johnson Tigers flashy forward led the scoring with 10 points while Ferguson was high for the losers with 8.

NOTRE DAME-STATE CLASH EXPECTED TO DRAW 80,000 FANS

Irish Team Arrives, Both Squads Plan Light Workouts for Today

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov 1—Rehearsals over the cast for the country's No 1 football drama gathered here today.

Notre Dame and Ohio State are furnishing the four score actors all aspirants for the role of "star" at the premiere at Ohio stadium Saturday afternoon before an audience of 80,000 fans.

The Irish from South Bend unbeaten in five games and confident of adding the high flying Bucks to their list of victims arrived in Ohio's capital early this morning. Coach Elmer Layden brought an official party of about 40 for the crucial fray. On the outcome hangs the national championship hopes of each team.

Light Workouts Today

The South Benders were taken to St Charles seminary for a short rest but were scheduled to go through some final limbering up exercises late today at the Buckeye stadium.

The Bucks too planned to work out lightly today then go to the Columbus Country club far from the noise of the merrymakers for the night. Thursday afternoon the Bucks just romped through a practice session concentrating on defense against Notre Dame passes.

Both teams will present all star lineups. Ohio will offer 11 of last year's lettermen in the starting lineup while nine of the Irish regulars earned their spurs a year ago.

Jumping Joe Williams the Barberton sophomore who has scored eight of Ohio's 24 touchdowns this season will be the Buckeye ace in the hole. The flashy runner will be kept on the sidelines at the start for two reasons.

The first is that Williams will be a constant scoring threat even when on the bench. He has not yet failed to score when tossed into the game. The other is that Coach Schmidt wants to see just how tough Notre Dame is before taking a chance on Williams' defensive play. The Barberton flash conceded one of the greatest runners Ohio has boasted in years has not yet proved his defensive caliber.

Bill Shakespeare Irish left half is the invading ball toter the Bucks are watching. The thing they fear most is his super educated toe—he rates as the middle west's outstanding punter.

Along with Shakespeare Notre Dame will present a classy backfield with Fred Carideo at fullback, Wallace Fromhart at quarter and Francis Layden at the other half. With that array of talent behind a line like Notre Dame's anything can happen.

All the backs are adept passers and in Millner and Peters ends the Irish have a great pair of pass receivers. It is through the air that the invaders are expected to put up their greatest threat.

Ohio will have a slight advantage in weight in the line while Notre Dame has the edge in the backfield. Over all Ohio has a total of 19 pounds the better of it, an average of about one and one half pounds per man.

Coach Schmidt of Ohio who admitted Thursday that this looks like a pretty tough game will string along with the same lineup he has used in the four previous games.

Wendt and Rees will be at end, Hamrick and Harre at tackle, Karcher and Smith at guard, Captain Gomer Jones at center, Hoekin and Boucher at the halves, Pincura at quarter and Antenucci at *full*back.

HARDIN CO STAR IN STATE'S LINE

The 80,000 fans who watch the Ohio State Notre Dame game Saturday will see James Karcher of Forest Hardin county go on the field with the first string lineup in the position of guard. Karcher has been described as one of the dependables of the Buckeye lineup but has been absent from several recent games because of injuries.

OHIO'S "JUMPING JOE" PREFERS NO. 13

By special request Jumping Joe Williams the sophomore sensation at Ohio State was furnished with jersey No 13 his favorite in prep school days. Williams a half back has averaged nearly 10 yards each time he has carried the ball and will seek to maintain that average against Notre Dame at Columbus Saturday. (Associated Press photo)

BISHOPS EXPECTED TO RELY ON PASSING ATTACK SATURDAY

Gauthier Drills Team on New Plays for Springfield Tilt at Delaware

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Nov [illegible] —Forward passing is expected to be Ohio Wesleyan's chief [illegible] Saturday against Cincinnati.

In addition to the usual forward pass plays which the Bishops have been using this season Coach George Gauthier has been drilling the team on new formations this week and most of them are designed to gain ground via the air.

At Wednesday's practice, the heaviest of the week, Gauthier had Joe Wraer, Johnny Heinlen and Ed Hageman throwing the ball. Henry Mohler the veteran fullback also came in for a share of the work so Cincinnati's Bearcats may expect to see any one of the four backfield men on the starting end of a pass.

Gauthier and his line coach "Babe" Frump also are doing some thinking along the defensive phase of Saturday's game and Freddie Yeager Bearcat back is the lad who figures in most of their plans. It was Yeager who scored the touchdown that brought victory for Cincinnati last year and [illegible]

This year Yeager has been doing much of the scoring. Gauthier remembers the '34 games too well to shift attention off the Mohican flash. So Yeager will find the [illegible] of attention of Bishop linemen.

Cincinnati's great punter Gordon Gan[illegible] has reminded Gauthier that good punting gives a team an edge so he is working to improve that phase of the play this week. Dick Finan, a [illegible] sophomore back, and Barnes, sophomore end, are showing the greatest improvement in kicking and likely Banks, one of the team's booting [illegible], will be dropping back from his position to do the job.

The better tickets for the Cincinnati game are being sold [illegible] and a near capacity crowd is expected.

Saturday's [illegible] has brought hundreds of [illegible] here for the Cincinnati [illegible]. Judging by the numerous requests for tickets which the athletic office has been filling this week Bishop athletic officials are preparing to handle their [illegible] crowd in years.

Black Panther, La Crosse To Wrestle Monday Night

Pair Who Fought to Draw in Match Two Weeks Ago To Settle Differences.

Marion wrestling fans will get what they requested when the black Panther meets Gil LaCrosse in a return match scheduled for next Monday night at the Shovel Gymnasium

Fans have been clamoring for this match since the two men battled to a draw here two weeks ago. At that time the wrestlers each scored one leg [illegible] fall but Referee Tom Temple was forced to call the match a draw when a near-riot broke loose during the deciding fall

It all happened so fast that fans are still arguing about the affair LaCrosse demanded the decision when the Panther was unable to return to the ring within the time limit As Referee Temple was about to raise LaCrosse's hand the Panther stepped into the ring and floored his opponent in just 45 seconds. Whether the using of Gil's arm ended the scrap or whether the Panther's last fall was legitimate is still a matter of conjecture

Fans to know however that the fight went into the official records as a draw and that in the return match being held on a winner-take-all basis both men will be battling to the last ditch

In the other feature bout Nick Mercurio of C[illegible] will meet Martino Angelo of Buffalo Both men have performed on the local card previously and fans have every reason to believe that the match next week will be anything but slow Mercurio specializes in what is known as the grapevine twist a very clever and effective hold which he uses often He puts up a good and usually rough fight in his encounters

Angelo the [illegible] Buffalo Italian is known to fans as a mean wrestler He last displayed his rough tactics here in a match with Bobby Chick

A twenty minute preliminary is being scheduled to begin the wrestling program at 8 30

BIM'S PRIVATE STUDY- HM-M- HOW I'D JUST LIKE TO GET ONE PEEP AT THOSE WIRES HE GETS EVERY MORNING - I'LL BET EVERY ONE OF THEM IS A TIP ON THE STOCK MARKET-
I CAN'T LET HIM KNOW I'M INTERESTED NOW AFTER ALL THE TIMES I'VE SAID I WOULDN'T GAMBLE - BUT IF I COULD ONLY PICK UP ONE LITTLE TIP ON THE Q-T - I MIGHT BE ABLE TO RAISE SOME MONEY SOMEHOW-
OH, JOY! THE VERY THING I'M LOOKING FOR - A LONG REPORT FROM HIS CONFIDENTIAL AGENT- ALL ABOUT FLEXIBLE GLASS, PREFERRED - THIS MUST BE WHAT BIM WAS CALLED DOWN TO THE OFFICE SO EARLY ABOUT-
THE CHANCE OF A LIFE-TIME — AND IT'S NOT EVEN A GAMBLE - I CAN'T LOSE - HE SAID SO HIMSELF - I'LL TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS IF I HAVE TO RAISE THE MONEY SELLING PENCILS ON THE STREET CORNER-

GEE, AUNT MARTHA I THINK FARMERS IS SWELL EVERY PLACE WE STOP THEY GIVE US LOTSA NICE THINGS TO EAT AND TREAT US JUST LIKE WE WAS THEIR OWN FOLKS
YOU'RE RIGHT, CHILD MOST FARMERS ARE PLAIN, SIMPLE PEOPLE WHO WORK HARD AND NEVER FORGET TO BE NEIGHBORLY MAYBE IT'S BECAUSE THEY'RE SO CLOSE TO NATURE THEY REALIZE WE ALL SHOULD HELP ONE ANOTHER
THEY DON'T PAY MUCH ATTENTION TO DOO DADS AND FANCY FIXINGS, BUT WHEN YOU STOP AT A FARMHOUSE THEY KNOW HOW TO MAKE YOU FEEL AT HOME
LOOK! THERE'S ANOTHER CAR COMING

STOCKS CLIMB TO HIGHER TOPS

Gains of Fractions to Two or More Points Noted Along Broad Front

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Nov 1—The stock market pushed ahead with renewed vigor today many of the favorites reaching new high territory for the past five years

While there were a few soft spots in evidence gains of fractions to 2 or more points were scattered over a broad front European war clouds were again ignored as speculative and investment appetites were whetted by optimistic economic developments

Trading was quiet in the first hour but volume picked up considerably in the second The motors alcohols farm implements coppers oils and specialties led the climb The rails were fairly firm as were most of the steels and utilities

Grains and cotton were narrow along with leading foreign exchanges Bonds were steady Carrier liens were a little better

Shares of Case got up 3 points and others up 1 to 2 or so included General Motors Chrysler Schenley Crown Cork American Commercial Alcohol Timken Roller Bearing Oliver Farm Phillip Morris Kennecott Cerro De Pasco U S Smelting McKesson & Robbins preferred Western Union at 5 Westinghouse Among losers of about 2 points were Paramount Pictures first preferred and Allied Chemical Standard Oil of New Jersey and California improved as did Santa Fe Great Northern U S Steel Studebaker and Packard Auburn was a contrary member of the automobile family with a decline of around a point

The more than ordinary activity in General Motors accompanied rumors based largely on hopes that when the directors meet Monday they may feel generous and pass out a larger extra dividend than previously paid

Timken Roller Bearing attracted attention following announcement of an extra of $1 on the common stock and the raising of the regular disbursement to a $2 annual basis

While some traders were still skeptical others pointed to bright earnings reports the continued flow of dividends and optimistic business news as sustaining bullish fuel

The week end review of Dun & Bradstreet estimated that retail sales throughout the country averaged 2 to 7 per cent larger than in the previous week and were 4 to 15 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1934 period

The Bethlehem Steel statement and the rather optimistic sentiments expressed by President Grace were pleasing to the financial sector
